

Sound installation - #Softlove (Prelude)

Contenu sous forme de paragraphes

This event is part of the Festival des Libertés Numériques

An intelligent system knows everything about the person to whom it is attached, accompanying them at every moment of their everyday life. From household management to professional assistance, advice on business deals, or alerts on imminent dangers and risks. At any time of day or night, this invisible and omniscient entity is programmed to anticipate one's wants and needs. But this machine is endowed with emotions and secretly falls in love...

#Softlove (Prélude) tells the story of a woman's life for 24 hours through the eyes of her digital assistant. This fiction continues Eric Sadin's reflection on our contemporary technological environment.
